Who should I see?

We offer a range of routine appointments with doctors and nurses for on going health complaints and more serious conditions which cannot be treated by self care but that are not considered a medical emergency.

It is therefore important to consider whether an appointment with a doctor or nurse is the most appropriate route.

Self Care

Cough, colds, headaches and other minor ailments may be more better being treated at home in the first instance.

Saving a visit to the doctor for more serious conditions can help free up our GPs' time making it easier to get an appointment when you really need it. Visit

<http://www.nhs.uk/selfcare>

Pay a visit to your pharmacy

Pharmacists are highly trained and are experts in medicines with clinical and practical expertise. They can advise you on common problems including coughs, colds, aches and pains and give lifestyle advice and support from losing weight to stopping smoking.

Often a pharmacist can help you decide whether you need to see a health professional and consider the alternatives when you are thinking of making an appointment to see you GP.

Patient Participation Group

Jai Medical Center (Brent) has an active Patient Participation Group (PPG), a group of volunteers who are all patients with the practice.

The practice is committed to improving their services within governmental and financial constraints and the PPG are able to bring suggestions and ideas on how to do this.

There is enormous change within the NHS, which will impact on us as patients and a patient voice is even more important. The new NHS constitution defines specific roles for Clinical Commissioning Groups (CCGs), GP Practices and PPGs. The Primary Care Network of which Jai Medical Centre (Brent) is one of members, PPGs have an important and defined role in ensuring that patient views and opinions are fully taken into account.

We are committed to giving the best possible service. The best way to achieve this is by working together. Help us to help you.

We undertake to:

- Treat you as a partner in the care and attention you receive.
- Treat you as an individual and give you courtesy and respect at all times.
- Following discussion, provide you with the most appropriate care and treatment, given by people who are suitably qualified. No care or treatment will be given without your consent.

We ask you to:

- Ask us if you don't understand or are unsure about anything to do with your treatment.
- Keep your clinic appointments and tell us as soon as you can if you cannot make them. Our usual appointments are for 10 minutes each. You might need to return with further appointment(s) for things that cannot be dealt with within the time the appointment is booked for.
- Be ready to give us full information about past illnesses, medication, hospital admissions and anything else that is relevant.
- Let us know your change of address or telephone number as soon as possible.

Tell us when we fail to meet these standards so that we can put them right. Put your ideas in the suggestion box.
